

September 9, 1938.

Mr. Raymond Nichols,
Chancellor's Office.

Dear Raymond:

Thank you for your letter of the 7th instant.

Apparently we failed to check on this item, although we had checked on our conference schedule, with the School of Fine Arts, and other activities that call for use of the auditorium.

I do remember that you were working on your lecture course dates and did not have them all arranged at the time we were completing our basketball schedule.

I am writing Mr. Iba, sending him a copy of our correspondence so that he can see that you would not be happy to arrange both attractions for the same evening. I trust that something can be worked out.

Very sincerely yours,

FCA:AH
