

September 17, 1937.

Mr. Don Cooper,
Director of Athletics,
Southwestern College,
Winfield, Kansas.

Dear Don:

I wrote you on the 30th of August that I would communicate with you as soon as I arrived home.

We would like to play you here in Lawrence the week of December 13-18. I also want to get Washburn College in on that week, if possible. Washburn's available dates are December 14, 15, 16, 17. I would like to play Washburn the 17th. So if we could play you the first part of the week, say the 14th, it would be dandy.

Then we would like to play you at Winfield the fore part of the week of December 20. I notice that you must miss Wednesday night, which is entirely agreeable to us. We could play you December 23, or the 21st.

We have a date to play Drake University at Des Moines on December 29, so this looks like about the best possible date.

I understand that the financial arrangement that we had last year will be satisfactory with you for these games. Of course, these games must have the approval of the Director of Athletics and the Athletic Board. I am just making tentative arrangements so that I can submit them to the proper authorities for ratification.

I also hope that you had a fine summer at Ohio State. I was glad to be remembered by Floyd Stahl and George Edwards.
