Iowa City, Iowa.

Dear Commander Harman:

I have not answered your letter because I am still debating just how strongly Kansas and the Seahawks will draw in Kansas City. We played Great Lakes in the first world war in Kansas City, and played them twice in the second world war, and they have established a traditional drawing power.

However, I think your football game with Missouri this Saturday night will pretty definitely establish the Seahawks dragging power in Kansas City. Last year in December the weather was so terribly bad it was not a fair indication, but if you and I both think after the Missouri football game that the Seahawks will draw well in basketball we will go ahead, if agreeable with you.

Sincerely yours,
