Dear Fellow Faculty Members:

I have been disturbed in seeing a great number of the new towels with copious portions of rust stain upon them. I investigated and found that the top of the locker where wet towels have been stored has disintegrated the steel so that it has left nothing but a rusty surface.

We are ordering this painted, but until such time as it is painted, will you kindly place the towels on the lockers to the south? These are painted and will not stain the towels. Thank you for your cooperation.

Sincerely yours,
