

play in Pullman was too long. Besides, it was broken into by final examinations and Easter vacation.

Stanford's combination man-to-man and zone style of play, however, baffled the Cougars, who at the same time were forced to put two men on Luisetti, holding him to eight points.

The Cards came from behind in the final three minutes of the first game to win by three points after the two teams had been tied 14-14 at half time. Four minutes before the close of the half Stanford had led 14 to 7.

Led All the Way

Although the second game was closer in the final count of 41-40, Stanford led all the way from the latter part of the first half, sometimes by the margin of only a single point but always enough. Either Luisetti, Turner or Calderwood, who scored 32 points among them in this encounter, came in with field goals whenever the Cougars threatened to draw abreast.

While congratulations were being voiced on the return to the team next year of the majority of the first string players and the addition to the squad of promising material from the championship freshmen, only one "sour" note was sounded for the 1938 season.

Possibility loomed that John Bunn would be offered the directorship of athletics at University of Kansas, a position he admitted he would seriously consider accepting. Press dispatches from Lawrence, Kansas, at the time these lines were written indicated that Bunn's name was at the head of the list of candidates the University was considering.

HANK IS PICKED

Angelo (Hank) Luisetti, Stanford's Public Benefit No. 1, was chosen on March 8 by metropolitan basketball writers in New York as the "finest visiting player to perform in New York during the season."

Only one writer declined to pick Luisetti. He gave as his reason the fact that he had not seen Luisetti play. Hank was given credit for almost singlehandedly breaking up Long Island University's record string of 42 successive victories.

VOWERS MADE MILLION

Receipts from athletic activities at Stanford during the reign of the "vowing sophomores" passed the million dollar mark for the three-year period, the Board of Control has announced. The receipts were $285,399 in 1933; $345,415 in 1934, and $338,455 in 1935. Additional revenues came from concessions and program sales.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

A PLEASURE

Dear Buck: Enclosed find $12 representing my contribution to TBMC. It is a pleasure to see Stanford going forward.

LAWRENCE FRANK, '17,
Los Angeles.

Business before pleasure, always, the Buckkeeper would like to see other Buckclubbers forget to forget, and get in dues.

THIS ONE DID

Tom: Didn't know I was so far behind. Keep up the good work.

HEINIE HUISKAMP,
Keokuk, Iowa.

Far behind in work, the Buckkeeper will try to keep it good.

WHOLE FAMILY IN

Dear Tom: Here's another $12 just to make the family unanimous. Wish there were more of us but that's all there is. Good luck to the Buckkeeper and may his reserve never lose what his waistline gains!

ROGER EHRLMAN,
Menlo Park.

To the many Ehrmans a fervent wish from the Buckkeeper there were many more, as he has previously wished for more of the Santa Paula Teagues, all Buckclubbers.

GOOD STANDING CONTINUED

Dear Tom: Just so I will continue to be a member in good standing, I enclose dues for a new member—A. W. Warner of Chicago.

GARDINER SYMONDS, '24,
Chicago, Ill.

Other Bucks please note how few members kept in good standing this month, as indicated by list of new members on page 4.

OLD MASTER JOINS

Dear Tom: Enclosed find membership for Dr. Forrest C. (Phog) Allen, basketball coach, University of Kansas. Doc, incidentally, is my old basketball coach. He is in the market for players as much as we are and needs some funds. However, Jack Calderwood sold him on the idea of the TBMC.

JOHN W. BUNN,
Stanford University.

To Brother Buck Allen of Lawrence, Kansas, double-duty thanks for donation both of Buck and Bunn.

TWO-WAY THANKS

Dear Tom: Thanks a lot for the gentle reminder. One could not possibly be offended on receiving a notice for such a worthy cause. My son will be joining soon.

B. S. DAMEREL.

Thanks, father; welcome, son; no offense other notice-receiving Bucks.

VOICE VIA VENEZUELA

Buckkeeper: Just a note to tell you to change my address, since I will be running around in the Argentine for the next few months and am not sure I will get back to this end of the Continent.

In a December bulletin I noticed a letter from Buck Klauber of San Diego suggesting the paper be sent to all paid-up members of the alumni association and contributing $5 for postage. I believe his idea an excellent one and I am enclosing my check for the same amount to carry on this work.

HARVEY L. DREW,
Maracaibo, Venezuela.

Vigorous Vivas for Venezuelans.

COUPLA COMPLAINTS

Dear Tom: What is this I hear about you resigning? I realize that from your personal point of view every possible cause can exist making it seem advisable for someone else to shoulder the burden. However, with scholarships in such a precarious way, I feel a change at this time would be a detriment. I am all set to start a movement to draft you against your own wishes.

LOUIS R. VINCENTI,
Pasadena.

Dear Tom: I understand you were thinking of giving up the secretaryship of the club. I can understand your reasons therefor, as I know it takes a great deal of your time. Personally, I will be sorry if this comes to pass, as I feel the success of the club has been, in large measure, the result of your activities.

H. G. JORGENSEN,
Salinas.

With modest blushes for kind words, the Buckkeeper nonetheless feels a change will benefit both Club and Clubwielder.

WE GOT IT ANYWAY

Dear Tiny: I am one of those lads who cheered you all the way from the background and who has prayed for victories over our all too well organized opposition, but have done nothing actively to assist you and your hard-working henchmen.

May I take this opportunity to tell you that I personally think you have done a
