

The 1954 trio seeking the circle are Chuck Duncan, Iowa State's 6-5 center; Bob Reiter, Missouri's 6-9 pivot, and Bob Jeangerard, raven-haired Colorado forward. Oddly the latter, altho a four-year man, will be competing in only his third tourney. He saw no action as a freshman.

Duncan will come in with a 77-point aggregate in two previous meets. He is averaging 18.8 points thru the Cyclones' five pre-meet games, second best among pre-tourney scorers. If he maintains this mean thru the tourney he can press his Kansas City total to 133 points, comfortably beyond the century mark.

Reiter needs only 25 tournament points to reach the 100-club, since he has collected 75 in three previous meets. He is traveling at a 13.0 clip, maintenance of which would shoot him to 114 for tournament play.

Jeangarard, by matching his seasonal average of 11.7, can just match 100 points. He needs 35 to reach the century level.

Two veterans, Burdette Haldorson, 6-8 Buffalo center, and Oklahoma's Lester Lane, already are safely in the Century Circle with 108 and 107 points, respectively. And the former has seen action in only seven games despite his four-year stripes. By stretching his current 24.5 average thru tournament play, Lane can reach 181
