The Missouri half of the top-rated tandem made it through the first round of the Big Seven pre-season basketball tournament last night but co-favored Colorado was sent out.

Missouri bested willing but unable Nebraska, 75 to 58, to go into the second round before 8,000 persons in Municipal auditorium.

In contrast to the faltering Missouri-Nebraska game was the hair-raising overtime thriller which Oklahoma took from Colorado, 73 to 71, to get the tournament started on an upset note.

The first round will be completed tonight when Kansas plays Iowa State at 8 o'clock and Kansas State plays guest California at 9:45.
