midnight, and naturally the presentation ceremonies were brief. Everyone was ready to go home.

Actually that prolonged second overshadowed a vigorous first 20 minutes when the Jayhawks opened an early lead, were tied at 32 by the scrambling Sooners and went into the last half with a slender 42-39 lead.

In the final analysis, Kansas won because of Capt. Al Kelley's general play, Harold Patterson's rebounding and the substitute work of a bunch of guys named Joe.

Sub Hits 22.

One of this latter type was a 6-foot 3-inch sophomore named Bill Brainard, who rose from the ranks of the nameless to make a little niche for himself.

Thrown in as a very raw, and very small, rookie to fill in after the 6-9 Born had fouled out, Brainard led all scorers with 22 points, 14 of them on free throws.

This 14 also tied a tournament record and Bill missed five more, which only proves he has the kind of skin opposing cagers love to touch.

Lane Has 16.

Second scorer in the game, and first in the tournament, was Oklahoma's 5-11 guard Les Lane, who tossed in 16 points in this game and managed 64 in three to edge Washington's center, Dean Parsons, by two points.

Oklahoma, without the height to match Kansas and Born, fell behind at the start, 10-3 and trailed 20-15 at the quarter. Born was most active then, tallying 11 points in 10 minutes.

Inside of two minutes of the second quarter the big Jayhawk added his third and fourth fouls and was virtually done for the night. That was when the Sooners, with Lane and Larry Hamilton firing, pulled to the 32 tie.

earlier Wednesday night. Center Bob Reiter tallied 26 for the winners and forward Don Weber, of Estherville, Ia., 18 for the Huskers.
