

scorer as the badgers annexed their first four games.

although parsons is a half-inch shorter than morrow he is also 30 points heavier, an item that is weighing increasingly more important under the backboards in modern-day basketball.

however, if waller, who is not tall as modern post-men go, gets a little help from his mates, he likely can slid a low-scoring handcuff on the huge huskie. the success or failure of this picketing job will go a long way toward deciding the issue.

drake disclosed that his club has been drilling at intensively defense since the aggie game december 16. "except against a & m our offense has been good enough", drake said here sunday as he sent his club into a workout on the auditorium planks sunday afternoon. "but our defense has not been good enough. we also must improve rebounding and take better care of the ball when we have it."

drake will start his usual lineup of sterling jones (6-1*) and ron blue (6-3) at forwards; waller, center; a ink mceachern (6-0) and lester lane (6-0) at guards.

washington comes in winless in four games. however coach tippy dye, who guided the club to the pacific coast title and third place in the ncaa last year, maintains his sophomore crop..... he brought seven of them here ..... is the best he's ever had at seattle. not a single regular from last year's great mccutchen-mclary-houbregs-cipriano-koon quintet remains.
