

August 29, 1938.

Mr. Roger Brice,
153 South 8th St.,
Salina, Kansas.

Dear Roger:

Our office has been closed for two weeks on account of vacation and we are just back now celebrating our return. I find your letter of August 14, together with a sample of your drawings, on my desk.

I notice that you have written to Dean Swarthout in regard to enrollment fees and expenses of a fine arts course. Doubtless you have received a reply from his office, although the dean has been in Rochester at the Mayo Clinic for an operation. He just returned Friday of last week, feeling much better.

I want to say that I was much impressed with the specimens of your art work. I expect to take these home to show my daughter, Jane, who graduated in fine arts here and who last year graduated from Stanford University. After I have shown them to her I will be glad to write you her criticisms of the work.

I am very sure that with your talent you will have no difficulty in finding work here. As I have told you, I will help you. Of course, we have some work in our physical education department that we always give to deserving young men. I do not believe that it would be necessary for you to come down early regarding the job. If you will arrange to come for your regular enrollment period I believe that would be good enough. You can count on my helping you as I promised you.

With every good wish, I am

Sincerely yours,

Director of Physical Education,
Varsity Basketball Coach.
