Dear Mr. Griffin:

Replying to your postcard of December 5, we are very sorry that we do not have anything illustrating and describing basketball plays. You see, we devote our efforts exclusively to the care and conditioning of the players themselves.

I am taking the liberty of passing your card on to Dr. F. C. Allen of Kansas University, as I feel sure he will want to explain his new book to you. I have a copy of it and I find that it is by far the best basketball book ever written. It has much inspirational material which you can pass on to the players and this, in my opinion, is just as important as the technicality of teaching plays.

I am sure you will hear from Dr. Allen within a few days.

Very truly yours,

THE CRAMER CHEMICAL CO.
