Dear Earl:

I have just acknowledged a letter from Mr. L. D. Mandl, of your Chicago store, stating that I received the pair of white and brown saddle shoes which were entirely satisfactory to my daughter. The catalogues also came along promptly. I thank you for this.

I mentioned to Mr. Mandl that I had not received an invoice for the shoes, and I am wondering if you will mail it to me or if it will come from the Chicago store.

I appreciate your prompt response to my previous request.

Sincerely yours,
