Dr. D. M. Strong
St Lukes Hospital
Kansas City, Missouri

Dear Dr. Strong:

As I promised you, I am sending you a copy of the Rebound that described briefly the emotions between brother and brother when they met on the high seas. Mrs. Allen told me about the sad incident of your losing your only twin brother just before the war ended, and she also told me the uncanny circumstances in which your father lost his own twin brother in the first war. Only those who have traveled the Golgotha Road can understand.

You have been so exceptionally kind to Mrs. Allen that she has a deep motherly affection as well as a high admiration for you. May you go on to great success which you undoubtedly deserve. I appreciate the high quality of professional service that you have rendered her.

I am also sending you a copy of Rebound 18; it is too long to read all of it, but you might sketch over parts of it that might interest you. I have done the best I could with the Rebound for the boys who care. We at home, I feel, have done so little.

Sincerely,

Forrest C. Allen, Director
