DEAR Phog:

I'm sending along for your perusal a piece we carried today out of DENVER in which Ev Shelton is quoted at considerable length on the 12-foot basket proposal, also on mayhem in the midwest compared with milquetoast basketball in the east. Just thought you might be interested in seeing what he has to say.

Incidentally, Phog, we did mighty fine with those pieces of yours. That czar for collegiate athletics went over great. The New York sports desk mailed me a handfull of clips on it from everywhere from the New York Times to Podunk.

I believe Bob Bock will be around one of these days to ask your opinion on an All-Big Six basketball team. If he should fail to get your version in the next week, certainly would appreciate if you'd jot down your selections and mail 'em to me.

Thanks muchly and best regards,

Sam Smith
