

ON TO MITCHELL!

SUPT. C. J. DALTHORP, Aberdeen
President of the SDEA for 1935

ALL of us who are vitally interested in education in South Dakota are at this time considering a trek to Mitchell, the Corn Palace City, to attend the SDEA meeting the four days preceding Thanksgiving Day. Our decisions involve both time and money. If we spend those two valuable things for an assembly of this type, we certainly expect something very worthwhile in the form of entertainment and inspiration. Consequently our decisions will depend largely upon the attractions promised by the program.

It is easy to survey the convention talent, regardless of its merit, and nonchalantly push it aside with the comment, "There is nothing to interest me." This article is intended to supplement the programs published elsewhere in this magazine and to assure you that there is something or several things which justify your decision to go to Mitchell. Your president, who has devoted much time and thought to the 1935 selections of speakers, is proud to recommend them to you as constituting an outstanding, well-balanced array of speakers with messages of interest to every educator in the state.

William McAndrew

William McAndrew is known as the grand old man of education and the sage of Mamaroneck. He is a homely philosopher with a touch of subtle humor and a dispenser of sound educational principles in a simple and interesting manner. His audiences are always enthusiastic about him. Anyone who reads School and Society or the Nation's Schools is stimulated by his expressive and timely educational articles. Years of experience as classroom teacher, as a high school principal, and as superintendent of schools in Chicago during the famous Mayor Bill Thompson fights give him a background unequalled from an educational point of view.

Forrest (Phog) Allen

The director of athletics at the University of Kansas is without a peer in America when it comes to lectures on athletics. His fine stage appearance, expressive English, and excellent voice have made him popular throughout the nation.

His broad experience as a basketball coach, a writer, and organizer in athletics qualifies him as an authority who will bring an inspirational message to all of us.

Robert England

This fine Canadian gentleman who lives in Winnipeg was educated in the schools of England. His lectures on international relations are sane and informative. His broad educational background and extensive experience as a public lecturer before national radio audiences and public groups in both the United States and Canada assure us he will make an excellent contribution to our program.

Roy W. Hatch

Professor of the social studies and geography at the New Jersey State Teachers College at Montclair, Dr.

Hatch has served as visiting professor at many of the leading universities in the east. His extensive writings in the field of geography and the social studies, in addition to his scholarly lectures on the place of geography and the social studies in the curriculum, eminently qualify him for one of the leading parts on the program.

Mrs. Carol Pitts

As an Omaha, Nebraska, musician and teacher, Mrs. Pitts is not a stranger to the school people of South Dakota. Last April she served as a critic judge for the state music contest in Sioux Falls. For many years she has attracted national attention with her outstanding choruses and glee clubs in Central High School, Omaha. She knows music thoroughly and has a direct and forceful stage delivery that will interest us all.
