

What Will Your Harvest Be?

During the spring and summer the seed is sown and crops are cultivated. At harvest-time, the fruits of labor are gathered and stored for the days when Nature may be less kind. In the spring and summer of life, men and women save in order to reap the harvest of a retirement income during their autumn years.

One of the best retirement plans is the New York Life Annuity Endowment. You save a fixed amount each year for your premiums. When your policy matures, you are guaranteed a monthly retirement income that will last as long as you live. In event of death before your Annuity begins, your family is protected.

Thus you have "double protection", that is, protection for the family and yourself.
