

SUGGESTIONS FOR FACULTY MEMBERS, UNIVERSITY OF KANSAS, FOR SPEAKERS
BEFORE CIVIC CLUBS, LECTURE COURSE GROUPS, STUDY CLUBS

N.B.: These are merely suggestions by alumni office. These persons are all busy teachers or Lawrence professional workers and their services as speakers cannot be guaranteed until arrangements are made with each one personally. This list is not presumed to be complete.

- F. C. Allen, chairman, department of physical education. Enthusiastic speaker on subjects pertaining to athletics, health, physical education, and character.
- John W. Ashton, chairman, department of English. A fine speaker in the field of English literature.
- Leonard H. Axe, professor of economics. ~~Law and Business. Chairman of Recent economic developments in the fields of finance and foreign trade. recent 75th Anniversary.~~
- R. Q. Brewster, head, department of chemistry. Excellent speaker on scientific subjects, particularly in the fields of education and industrial development.
- E. C. Buhler, professor of debate and public speaking. Talks on subjects of voice training, salesmanship, and allied fields.
- H. B. Chubb, associate professor of political science. Speaks with authority on current political and international problems.
- C. D. Clark, head, department of sociology. Makes a penetrating and interesting talk on current social problems.
- K. W. Davidson, director of information. The press, public relations, and philosophical remarks.
- R. M. Davis, professor of law. Specialist on the Constitution and makes a good talk on that subject--also related subjects. Is an authority on history.
- W. W. Davis, professor of history. Specialist in American and Asiatic history.
- Cora M. Downs, professor of bacteriology. Has a hobby of landscape gardening and is prepared to give a most excellent talk with colored pictures on that subject. Also travel talks.
- Donald Durell, professor of botany. Speaks with authority on landscape gardening.
- Maud Ellsworth, instructor in education (public school art methods). The place of arts and crafts in public schools. Art appreciation.
- ^{Mexico} D. Gagliardo, professor of economics. Well informed and a fine speaker on these subjects: Labor, Social Insurance, and Governmental Policies.
- E. Thayer Gaston, assistant professor of education. Public school music man of long experience who speaks well on music appreciation or music education.