My dear "Phog":

I have been wondering all week if your double faced score board reached you in time for your games Monday and Tuesday with Texas University. I hadn't heard a word from you - neither had I heard anything from the Fair Play Company, so I had no idea just what had occurred on the order.

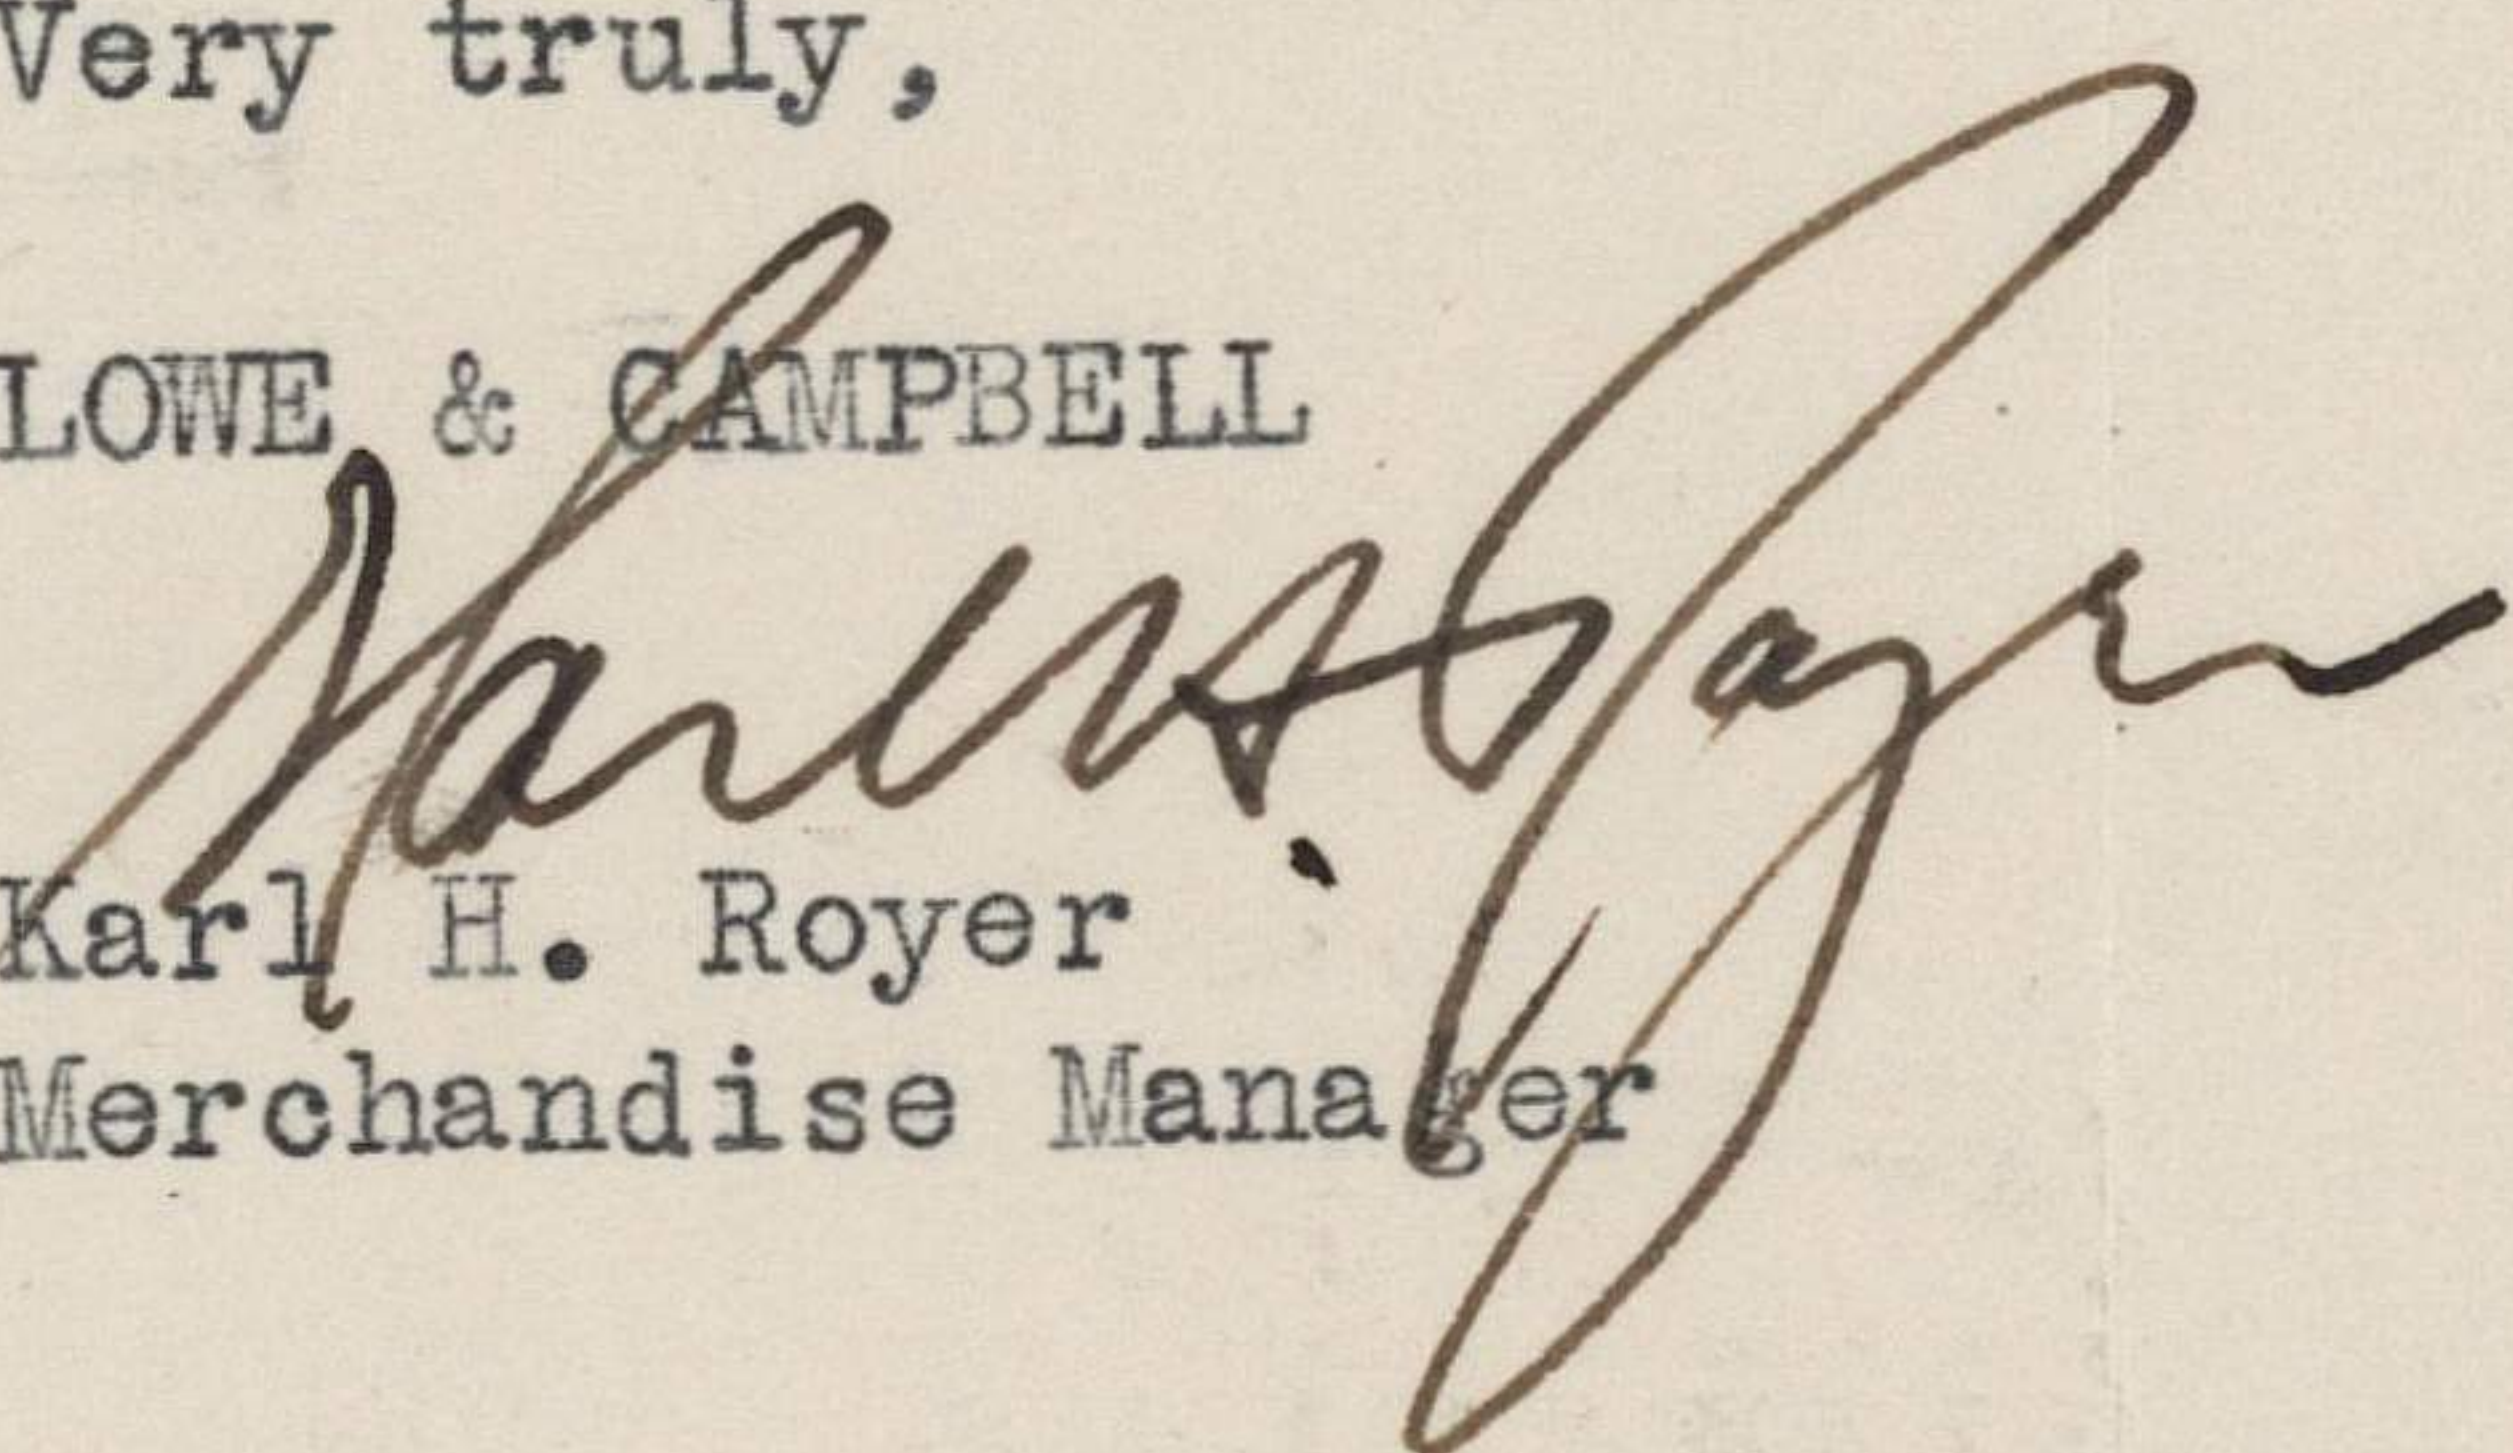

I believe I mentioned to you in long hand in a letter that the Fair Play Company called me last Saturday afternoon on the phone saying they were having trouble in obtaining certain parts, but they planned to work all day Sunday and try to get the board off to you that evening so you would have Monday morning. Therefore, you can see why I have been wondering all week whether or not the board was received, or just what happened.

Now this morning I have a letter from Fair Play saying that the motors which they had been expecting finally arrived and the board will be ready to ship today, so this indicates to me that something happened that they couldn't get the board off Sunday and apparently they figured it was no use to inform us of it.

I surely hope that the board does reach you some time next week so it can be properly installed and in readiness for your next game. I am awfully sorry that the Fair Play Company fell down on us in getting the board to you for the Texas games.

Very truly,

LOWE & CAMPBELL
