Dear Mrs. Swisher:

I am autographing the book and mailing the same to you today as you desire. Thank you for the check, and I trust that your son will enjoy the text.

There are seven stories of great games in the back, entitled "Tales of Yesteryears", and even though you may not be a basketball fan, I believe that you will enjoy reading them. It gives a mother an insight on why young boys like athletics, and your son in his maturity will still get a kick out of reading of these great games.

With all good wishes, I am

Sincerely yours,
