Student Luncheon Forums--10-15

The people of Lawrence were most responsive to the evening meetings, and gave considerable stability to evening attendances.

FINANCE

The budget for this Mission will approximate $350. This budget was estimated before the Mission began, and expenditures during the Mission have come very close to it. An itemized account of these expenditures must wait until we have all of them turned in.

SCOPE AND VALUE:

Through the variety of intimate student discussions and lectures most of the students of the campus must have been touched. Aside from the Convocation where nearly all free students were assembled, these students had other occasions of contact. But some observations seem pertinent. It has been easier to contact organized groups than to reach out into the rooming house district. The dinner discussions have revealed more about the earnest religious thoughts of students and the personal problems that they find on this campus than any other phase of our work. Relations with the faculty have been very close and profitable.

PURPOSE AND CONTINUATION:

This Mission has strove to do three things: to give Christianity intellectual integrity, to give its principles meaning, and to give Christ first-place in our lives.

Continuation lies in the direction of unifying life around Christian convictions, of applying Christian principles to practical situations, and of cultivating spiritual power.

ORGANIZATION:

The University Christian Mission General Committee represented all student groups and the faculty. This broad foundation was necessary if the Mission was to have a wide appeal. Every effort to continue such cooperative effort without sacrificing our purposes or our effectiveness should be made.
