Sir: My congratulations to you on the excellent publicity you received in "About Town" in The Times of this morning. I recognize the tremendous amount of labor and sacrifice involved in this noteworthy labor of love.

Incidentally there is a tremendous nuisance value released upon your tired shoulders and aching head in that many small-town fry like myself will endeavor to add to your burden in supplying reading material for their far-away sons.

Because during parts of five calendar years I completed three years of journalism at K. U., my son has been thoroughly inoculated with K. U. tradition and athletic heroes of by-gone days, I make bold to ask if you would send ^{him} ~~me~~ convenient back numbers of your publications?

Along with many other highpoint men in the Pacific he has little to do until shipping is available--a matter of long, tiresome weeks from present indications.

I will cheerfully pay any charge (and my word is good if you ask Hon. C. E. McBride for verification) for expense involved in mailing direct to him: Cpl. James Tibbetts, 22nd Repl. Depot, A.A.F., Headquarters Co. Band, % Postmaster, San Francisco.

Thanking you for boring you, I am, Fraternally,

Tibbetts
