Dear Phog:

I have yours of September 27 and am mighty sorry to hear of Jack's illness. I of course will not mention it to anyone and I hope that he snaps out of it in good shape.

I rather took a liking to the boy. Originally he thought he wanted to go to Stanford, but I discouraged him as I was quite sure that his scholarship would not get him in, and I doubted whether he would do well so far from home. I encouraged him to go to Lawrence, as I felt that was the proper place for him. If he snaps out of his illness he will make a mighty good boy, I am sure.

With reference to the caps for the golf clubs, I sent you these yesterday and hope they work out in good shape.

Yours sincerely,

J. E. Turner
