

July 25 - Steak fry on quadrangle.

Professors F.O. Russell and Guy Smith fried steaks and this time we made our own coffee and fixed and prepared our own food and served it for 35%. Everything that could be had on a steak fry was had at this so-called farewell picnic. Large grills were used in frying the steak and everybody who attended voted Chefs Russell and Smith the best. Many people came from out of town. Dr. Don Carlos Peete, his wife and children drove down from Kansas City and a great many faculty members attended this steak fry.

Playground.

Our playground was open every evening from 7:00 to 9:00 with the exception of Saturday and Sunday.

Softball league.

We carried through the entire season a six-team softball league, each team having about 13 players on it. Most of these men who played were graduate students and they found these games on Monday, Wednesday and Friday necessary adjuncts in keeping more physically fit and mentally alert for the summer's grind.

This league has been in full swing three years, and if anything, it was more popular this year than last. We arranged to have the swimming pool open immediately after the games so that the players could have a plunge in the pool. In fact, the men's afternoons were so allocated that the men who did not play softball and wanted only the swimming, they could indulge in that. It works very nicely in the scheme of things by having the men's afternoons the same afternoons that the softball games are played.

Swimming pool.

As stated above, the pool was open for both men and women; men three afternoons a week and women three afternoons a week. The co-recreational splash was held twice a week in the evenings, and it was a great success.

Each year the colored people have had one or two co-recreational splashes, and what a splash they make!

Basketball.

On August 1, a basketball game was played under the new rules. In our Advanced Basketball course we had a great number of very capable coaches studying the game and we used these players to demonstrate the new rules of the game. The game was largely attended and greatly enjoyed.

Folk Dancing.

We used the band platform for teaching folk dancing to the little tots. We used a loud speaker with victrola music and the piano. It was a great success. Many mothers came to give the children the benefit of the training. Miss Dorothy Garrett, one of the students in the School of Fine Arts, assisted in this work.
