

The left wing prevents a pass from going out of bounds by using the rounded side of her stick. The ball rebounds to the stick of the opposing right halfback.

At a center bully, the blue right inner crosses the line just before the completion of the bully. The red center forward obtains possession of the ball.

The wing taking a long corner hit stands with one foot outside the field of play.

A long hit up the alley is made and a halfback cuts across the path of the opposing wing, breaking the forward's stride while she is still too far from the ball to reach it. No personal contact occurs.

Player uses push pass on a free hit taken from edge of striking circle.

A player outside the striking circle does not interpose any part of her body between her opponent and the ball, but by using a reversed stick, she prevents her opponent's stick from touching the ball.
