

Miss Hoover's recommendations:

Sensitivity to other people's reactions -- "She is not particularly sensitive to another person's reactions. Is rather selfish in that respect."

Capacity for self-expression - "Has very good self-expression. She can tell people what she wants and they can understand her very easily."

Capacity for assuming and discharging responsibility -- "I think that depends upon whether or not she is interested. Would not trust her too far with responsibility. If it is to her interest particularly to take it she will do it; if not, she can't be bothered."

Intelligence and initiative -- "I think she has a very high degree of intelligence and she has good initiative and resourcefulness."

Attitudes toward other people -- "Not particularly sympathetic, and yet really rather understanding, depending upon whether or not she likes a person. That will influence her attitude."

Maturity and personal organization -- "Very unstable emotionally and not particularly mature. A good organizer of her own work, but not of her own self."

"I would recommend her for this type of a position with a great deal of hesitancy."
