

However the American game of football was without the forward until 1905. In 1902 03 & 04 a large number of college players were killed in football due to the mass attack called the flying wedge - a great cry arose from the masses asking for eradication of the game from American Collegiate sports. Pres. Theo Roosevelt saved the game appealing