

familiarity among the respected.

all this leads me to reflect on a D.B. Shaw declaration, uttered not long ago.
- when asked of his future, the late Shaw gashed out with "
I want to die a thoroughly used up man".

Yours, in all sincerity,

Without my awareness of your sturdy directness in living, I foresee your future stature as a worldly force claiming greater fame in
- the role as an obedient servant of
