

distasteful little subject called "navigation." I don't think that I told you but they "rang in" a 6-week course in navigation on us besides the bombardiering course.

I never even considered navigation when I came in to the Army but I got it, nevertheless. I accepted it in good faith - figured I could do it. And that's about all I've done, - just shown them that I have potentialities of getting a plane headed in the right direction. However my grades are passing in the subject & I'm hoping for the best.

I've received the "Rebounds" regularly & appreciate your thoughtfulness very much.

I should get a leave upon graduation but doubt if I'll leave Gridley any further than necessary.
