

January 11, 1943.

Mr. Harold Wright,
Mr. Marshall Hulett.

Dear Harold and Marshall:

I see boys lying down in the towel room when they should be up on their feet, ready to do business. It looks bad, and when somebody has to go to the door and call out to get service at the window, then we don't want to hire them. A boy could improve himself by studying, but we want him on the alert, and not sleeping.

Sincerely yours,

Director of Physical Education,
Varsity, Basketball Coach.

FCA:AH