Dear Dr. Allen:

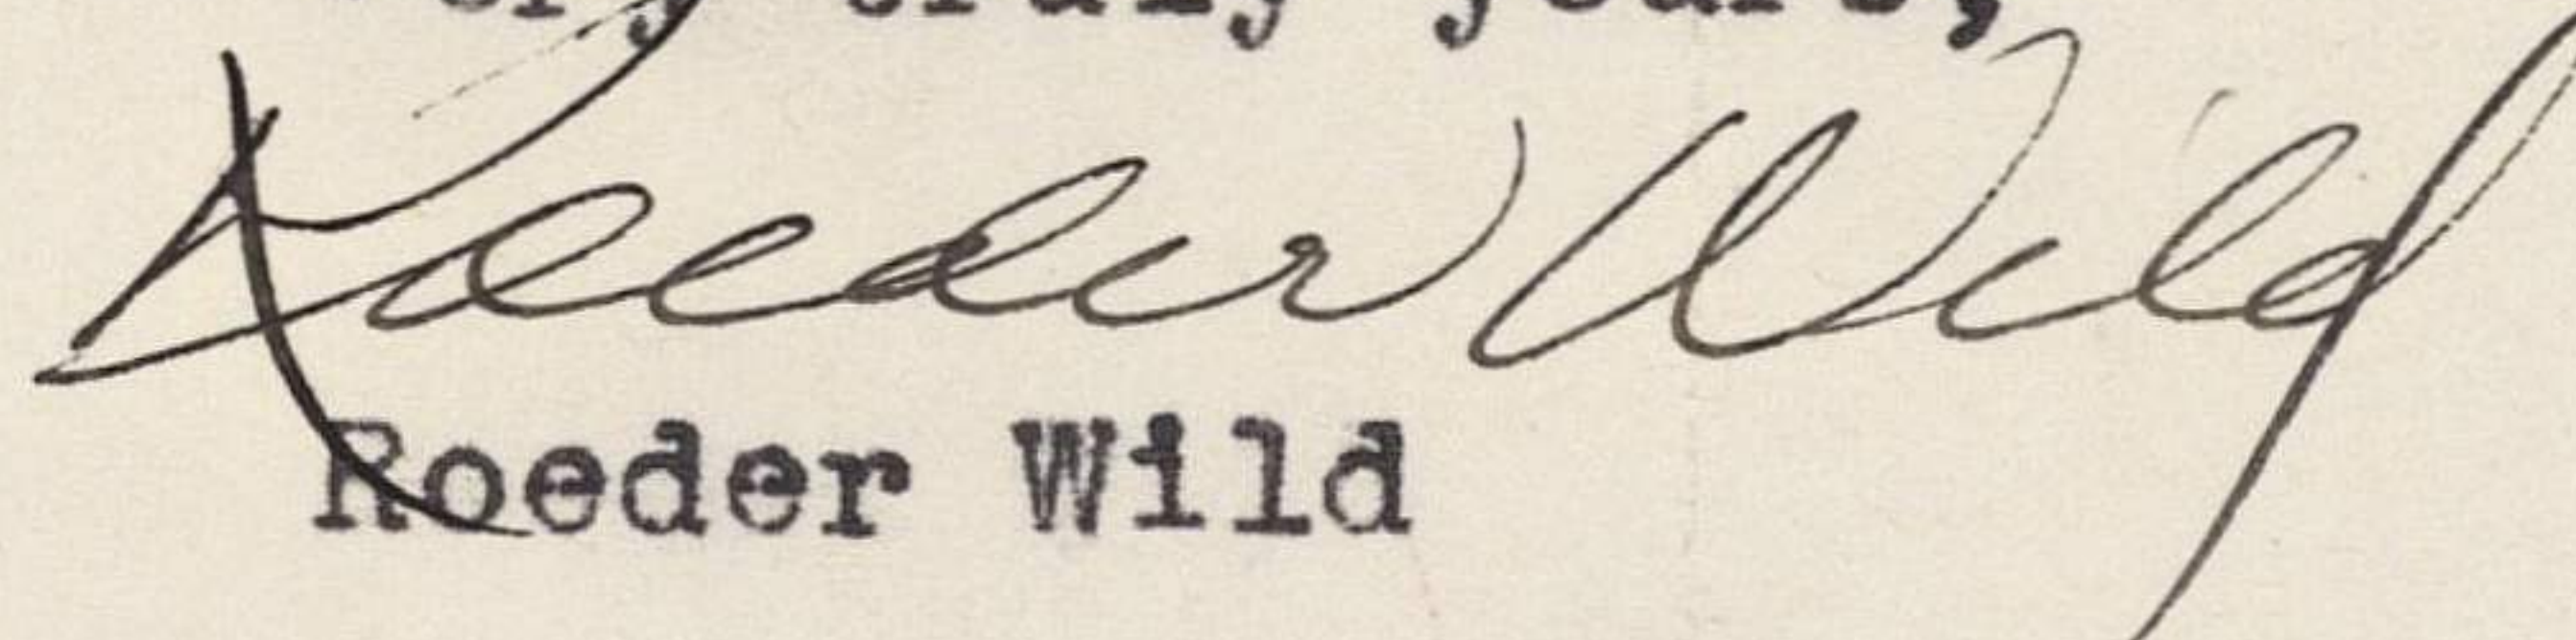

After hearing your really wonderful talk I have not yet gotten myself in the condition so as to be familiar enough to call you "Phog." It really was a grand talk, and I have heard many happy comments on it since.

I have been checking, since the campaign was over, to determine why we did not have a better turn-out, and I find that we were competing against meetings of the A. A. U. W., the Parent Teachers' Association, and the League of Women Voters. Practically all of these groups were making last-minute plans to bring about the election of the Citizens' Committee candidates, who, as you will recall, were endorsing the present administration, headed by our mutual friend, Harry Gowans. Our candidates won by sizable majorities, and we are all back to normal again.

It was grand to have had you with us, and if you should be anywhere near the vicinity in the future, let us know in advance if you can, and if we have no regular planned meeting, we will arrange a special one.

With kindest personal regards.

Very truly yours,

Roeder Wild
