Dear Warren:

I was very happy to receive your personal and confidential letter of April 11th, and I agree with you most whole-heartedly that George Nettels really is a great guy. He is a man's man, and what a man!

I am writing Paul Endacott seconding emphatically your feeling and telling Paul that it will be a decided loss if George were not returned to the board. I don't mind telling the whole wide world what I think about it, and you know I sometimes do not keep still maybe when I should. But George is such a swell fellow, and Paul is such a fine man that I think I can say things to him in confidence that will be understood.

Thank you, Warren, for congratulating me on being lucky enough to stumble along until we hit Indiana. My, they were hot and we were just a country ball club! You don't have to tell me that I am a sucker - I know that, but why would a guy want to get rich and build a college? You know, the thing that makes the sheep-herder crazy is the sheep, and who would want to be a college president?

I want to reciprocate by asking you to remember the Allens to your splendid family. With all good wishes and sincerest regards, I am

Very sincerely yours,
