

Al
July 29, 1938.

Mr. Al Wellhausen,
426 West 11th St.,
Oklahoma City, Okla.

Dear Al:

Your Dad came in for a visit and conversation this morning. We spent a very pleasant half hour. Last week I met your Mother on the street and we had a good visit.

Your Dad brought in a note which Mr. Maurice L. Breidenthal, the president of the Security National Bank, had sent to your Mother for a renewal of the notes that she signed for your education a few years ago. Of course, Mr. Breidenthal desired his money, but since your Mother was unable to pay anything on the notes he added the interest and principal together and made out one new note.

I think you recall the notes because you came to me to see if I could get Mr. Breidenthal to loan you some money so that you could continue in school. I am sure that you appreciate his kindness in doing this for you.

Your Dad told me of your dilemma in being asked to pay the expenses of your automobile out of your $150 salary. If you drive the automobile it will cost you $1.00 a day, and that will leave you about $120 a month, out of which you will of course want to save to pay off some of your debts and accumulate a little reserve.

Now, Al, while you are in Oklahoma City be sure to call on Mr. C. O. Burnside, the manager of the Carpenter Paper Company. You remember it was Mr. Burnside who always met the trains at Oklahoma City when we came down to play Oklahoma. He may be in position to do you quite a bit of good, and he will certainly be glad to know that you are in town. He is a grand fellow.

If I were you I would write to Mr. Maurice L. Breidenthal, president of the Security National Bank, Kansas City, Kansas, telling him of your appreciation in loaning you the money and of your desire to help your Mother in reducing the amount of this loan. Of course, when a fellow pays 6% interest he can make money by cutting down the principal, because 6% counts up pretty rapidly, and you cannot get anything like that in the way of interest for your savings.