Dear Jack:

I have not been having any too good luck with Biff Jones and I am rather sceptic regarding the Army-Navy football film.

Our University students wanted the Army to pick the beauty queen and we asked Biff to get it done with Red Blake and the football team. It was only a perfunctory thing, if he didn't want the team to do it, he could have appointed a committee quietly and the result would have been the same. We sent him wires and finally he made the excuse that he thought it had been taken care of.

I would do it for you, Jack, but I am a little loath to try again under the circumstances. See if you can't work another angle through a strong army man in Kansas City.

With all good wishes, I am

Sincerely yours,
