Mr. Lee K. Anderson, Secretary
Oklahoma High School Athletic Association
Oklahoma City, Oklahoma

Dear Lee:

Thank you for your letter of the 8th instant giving us your championship tournament dates. Our last game with Oklahoma is on March 7 here in Lawrence, and with Oklahoma A. and M. on March 11 here in Lawrence, so I am very sure there will be no conflict in any way this year; for which I am truly thankful.

I am sorry for the incident which occurred last year, but it could not be helped. If there would have been any way in which I could have cooperated with you to a fuller extent, I assure you it would have been a pleasure to do so.

Thanking you for your letter, I am,

Sincerely yours,

Dear Mr. Allen:

It was necessary for us to go ahead and set our tournament dates so that teams could prepare their schedules of individual games and plan for other tournament dates. We have set March 6, 7, 8 for our final championship tournament, so we will be clear of all possible competition with the college play-off. This of course necessitated cutting our season short and a number of our schools are not well pleased.

Yours truly,

Dear "Boots":

I am sending you a belated letter of thanks which I wrote Mr. Frank Phillips, expressing my regret at not being able to be present in New York for the informal stag dinner at the Ambassador Hotel, but thanking you both for your thoughtfulness in asking me.

Of course it was impossible for me to be with you but I appreciate your thinking of me, and too I was delighted that you showed the eastern boys how it was done. It must have been a grand party.

I read Charles Driscoll's column in this morning's Times about the wonderful party you and Mr. Phillips put on. It must have been great.

Dear "Phog":

Thanks so much for your nice letter of the 12th, enclosing copy of one you had written to Mr. Phillips, and your basketball schedule for this winter. I hope it will be so that I can see some of your games.

I just returned from New York this morning. Have been commuting back and forth for the last month, and am leaving again next Wednesday but will have some of my work well lined up soon after the first of the year and expect to be able to spend more time out here in the country.

I had a most delightful visit with Charlie Driscoll at our party. He certainly is a grand fellow. He told me all about his early days in Kansas and also sent me a copy of his article.

We really did have a grand party. I am sending you one of the menus and a basketball folder under separate cover. We had 298 guests at the dinner, all the newspaper men, etc., and had approximately 9,000 at the game, which we felt was exceptionally good in view of the game being so far in advance of the opening of the season.

It was awfully nice to hear from you, and I want to take this opportunity of extending the Season's Greetings to you and your charming family.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Dr. Allen:-

It is our understanding that in the great game of last Saturday, in which your team won over Southern California, one of your athletes, by the name of Miller, was enabled to play because of a new type of Knee Brace.

We have this report from our Mr. LeBarge and we are very much interested to know your personal opinion of this Brace which we are about ready to place on the market under the name of "Atlas Knee Saver."

We would be immensely grateful to have your frank opinion as this is the first time this Knee Brace was used in a crucial moment and your favorable opinion would naturally be of great encouragement to us.

Dear Mike:

I am sending you a carbon copy of a letter that I have just written to Dr. King. I could have put your name on the letter addressed to Dr. King and sent you an original and it would have gone for both of you.

Some fellow has said there are three sides to every question; your side, my side and the right side. I am trying to get near the third side.

I am sending you a carbon copy of two statements I gave Horace Mason, our Sports Publicity Director, so that you can see that I did not blatantly make a statement but merely dictated it to my secretary and she in turn gave it to Horace Mason and he gave it to the newspaper boys. I am not trying to blast anybody, but in these days of free speech I am still of the opinion that a fellow has a right to speak his mind without the newspaper men saying he is blasting somebody's head off.

I still remember with a great deal of amusement your and Henry Schulte's debate on the shift in football. I have seen you get red in the face sometimes and tell Mr. Schulte a few things, but you always retained your sense of humor, which after all is the saving grace in all things.

With all good wishes to you, I am,

Sincerely yours,

Jan. 8, 1941

When President Franklin D. Roosevelt announced the National Defense Program, college men and organizations all over the country voiced their desire to help in the preparedness of the Nation by a larger physical education program. After the football season the Big-Six faculty representatives and athletic directors emphasized their willingness to cooperate in this venture. During the Christmas meeting in New York the National Collegiate Athletic Association reemphasized it.

The action of the faculty representatives and athletic directors of the Big-Six Conference in cutting the basketball squads to ten men for travel and home games seems not only discriminatory but paradoxical. In football 33 men is the limit; in basketball 10 men. Three times as many men that comprise a football team are taken on a trip while but two times as many basketball men are permitted to go on trips.

In the Mayo Clinic's research at Rochester, it has been discovered that the peak of fatality after operations occurred during the months of January and February, owing to the fact that the sun's rays are the shortest at that time and the vitality of the individual the lowest. Flu and the common cold have taken a great toll and have weakened the individual beyond resistance.

Flu runs rampant all through the basketball season, weakening the players' heart action and subjecting them to strain in addition to the vigorous game of basketball; therefore, it is necessary that the coach substitute frequently to conserve the health and strength of the boys. With this limit on the number of players there are not enough men on the squad to do the job satisfactorily. Not only is it discriminatory but it is paradoxical when our athletic leaders say to the Nation that they desire to increase the number of participants, when by counteraction they decrease the number of participants.

The Big-Six faculty representatives and athletic directors further went on record by saying that in case of a tied championship, the like of which happened last year when Oklahoma, Missouri and Kansas ended in a triple tie, the best offensive and defensive record of the team will be taken into account and no actual play-off will be necessary.

By this rule they will force the coach to play already fatigued players for the sake of percentage, when the game is already actually won or lost. Under the old plan, a fresh substitute on the bench could get his reward for his many hours of patient practice by getting into the game. But under the present plan of comparing the best offensive and defensive record of the teams, then there is nothing for the coach to do but to continue in the game the players who can make the best record. This of course applies only when there is a tied championship, but from the time that the season starts until it finishes, the coach will be laboring under the feeling that he has an opportunity to win and therefore he will not play his substitutes who might deserve to get into the game but who might allow the opponents a percentage advantage.

Coach George Edwards of Missouri states that his faculty representative informed him that but ten men could be suited up at home and therefore eligible to play in the home game. The only hope that many players had was to get into a home game that was already won or lost, and if this rule is put into effect than it will naturally discourage the players who have come out for practice in the hope that they might get into some home game, although they might not be valuable enough to be taken on a trip. Therefore this rule is actually discouraging the number of students who indulge in physical exercise rather than encouraging them to do so.

Further than this, the Big-Six this year cut the allowable number of games from 20 to 18, while the Big-Ten, the larger organization that the Big-Six was patterned after, has for years permitted their schools to compete in 20 games. Again, instead of allowing greater athletic participation, they are curtailing it.

Basketball does not incur a deficit. On the other hand a tidy net profit above equipment and coaching expenses is assured. Consequently, the same economies that might be practiced in a sport showing a deficit would not necessarily be imperative here.

Summing up all the legislation that has happened in the last year, it seems as if there is discouragement in physical participation and also a definite danger to the health in the legislation made in regard to basketball numbers and participation.

At the present time I find myself absolutely unable to pick the first ten men that will make the trip to Norman. Influenza riddled our squad on the eastern trip and we have at the present time three or four men definitely weakened from the effects of flu. Therefore, it is necessary to take a larger squad on account of this illness than the rules permit, and with the beginning of the season and an inexperienced squad I find that this rule definitely works a handicap. Of course, we will follow the rules, although I think they were discriminatory and not thought out fully, especially when we consider the health and welfare of our boys.

Jan. 9, 1941

Realizing the inequalities of rules of the Big-Six that exist between various sports, I desired to distinguish the difference in the rules concerning basketball and the other major sports as legislated by the faculty representatives and directors.

No where in other sports do they discriminate against a particular sport and state that only a certain number of players may be dressed for home games.

Realizing the right of free speech, I dictated a statement to Mr. Horace Mason, our Sports Publicity Director, so that he might give it to the press. I did not blaze away or fire back at anyone. Neither have I changed my idea one iota in regard to the rules discussed. If the directors of the Big-Six worked out a plan and submitted it to the faculty representatives the basketball coaches of the Big-Six did not hear of it. In all previous legislation the general plan has been to at least consult the coaches and get their opinion and if the coaches desire something they appeal to the directors, and then the matter is passed from the directors to the faculty representatives for legislation.

We recognize the inherent power of the directors and the faculty representatives to make rules, but the mere flag-waving and lip-service given to President Roosevelt's National Defense Program by college administrators does not strike a very responsive chord, when such legislation as we have mentioned is here considered.

In many institutions no money is forthcoming from the athletic department for intramural athletics. As a general practice, many schools speak about the earnings from the athletic department going to intramurals but generally the amount contributed is very small. At our institution not one penny is given by the athletic department toward intramurals because they have their own financial problem.

My intent was constructive criticism and not to stir up malice.

We certainly would have no desire to enter into any personal controversy with our two good friends, Dr. H.H. King and Director M.F. Ahearn of Kansas State; however, neither one of them did answer this very pertinent point: Why is it that there is a curtailment on numbers in basketball for home games when no other sport is legislated against by this rule?

Only ten men can be dressed for home basketball games which certainly is a curtailment of numbers in sports.

After this rule with limitations was reemphasized last year by the directors and faculty representatives, Kansas State was the first to violate the ten-man rule by carrying 15 men to Lawrence. Nebraska was the second by taking a like number to Manhattan, and later in the season the University of Missouri sent 12 men to Lawrence. However, the Missouri people dressed but ten, two of the men being sent as a reward for their service during the season, while the two other institutions dressed 15.

Last night Coach Drake dressed 15 men at Norman but actually played only 10. Personally, so far as I was concerned, he could have played all 15 and I would have offered no objection because certainly this rule is discriminatory and paradoxical.

These are merely statements of facts.

The tickets for the Oklahoma game have all been sold out since February 9. However, I am turning your money over to Mr. Earl Falkenstein, the financial secretary of the Athletic Association.

Standing room is the only thing that is left and tickets are seventy-five cents each. However, I am sure if you will get some old folding camp stool that you will find some place in the auditorium that would give you a good view of the ball game. We can not promise you any space, though. This is only a suggestion from a basketball coach to a basketball fan.

There are no reserved seats left. All of them have been sold since the middle of February. I would suggest that you write Mr. Falkenstein as to whether or not you want your money returned, or whether you want to take a chance on seeing this ball game from the vantage point that I have described.
