Mr. C. A. Clingenpeel,
Central College,
Fayette, Missouri.

Dear Cling:

A thousand times I have started to write you but each and every time I have failed. This procrastination is terrible and shameful. But I am getting around to it now - just merely to say hello to you and to wish you in writing the thing that I have wished you in thought a thousand times. The best of luck in everything, always.

Cling, I met a friend of mine down in Oklahoma City who said that Arthur B. Adams, who is now dean of the school of business administration at the University of Oklahoma, was a former coach at Central College. I cannot place Adams - when he was there and what sport he coached, but knowing that you have been at Central from the beginning as an athlete and a coach, sans the time that you were coaching at S.M.U. and Kemper, I felt that you could give me more definite information than anyone else. I am very interested in knowing the time that Mr. Adams coached down there and the time he was on the faculty. I will write you further as soon as I get your information because it is rather important. I will appreciate hearing from you at your earliest convenience.

I have written Dean Puckett and I know between the two of you, you will be able to give me all the information necessary.

With all good wishes to you and your lovely family,

I am

Sincerely yours,

Director of Physical Education and Recreation,
Varsity Basketball and Baseball Coach.

We have just returned from Manhattan, and instead of wiring you our first and second team selections I am writing you. I hope this will arrive in time for your use.

I had the boys vote on an all-opponents team, and a summary of their voting is shown on the enclosed sheet. My selection is listed at the right of their selections.

Very sincerely yours,

Dear Mr. Cook:

I am sorry for the long delay in answering your kind letter of February 27th, but I have been covered up with a mass of administrative, teaching and coaching details.

I was very much interested in what you wrote concerning R.A.F. Pilot Laurence Nelson, and it is a pleasure for me to forward him a copy of my book, "Better Basketball", which is published by McGraw-Hill and Company. As you know, the other book, "My Basketball Bible", is now out of print.

I trust that Mr. Nelson will derive much pleasure out of reading "Better Basketball", and I am grateful to you for passing the information on to me.

With best wishes, I am

Mr. Forrest C. Allen,

Dear Coach:

Last October I had a letter from an R.A.F. pilot wanting to buy from Indiana university a basketball. He told me that basketballs in England, scarce in peacetime, were null and void during the war. Although he had offered to pay for it, we sent him a new one.

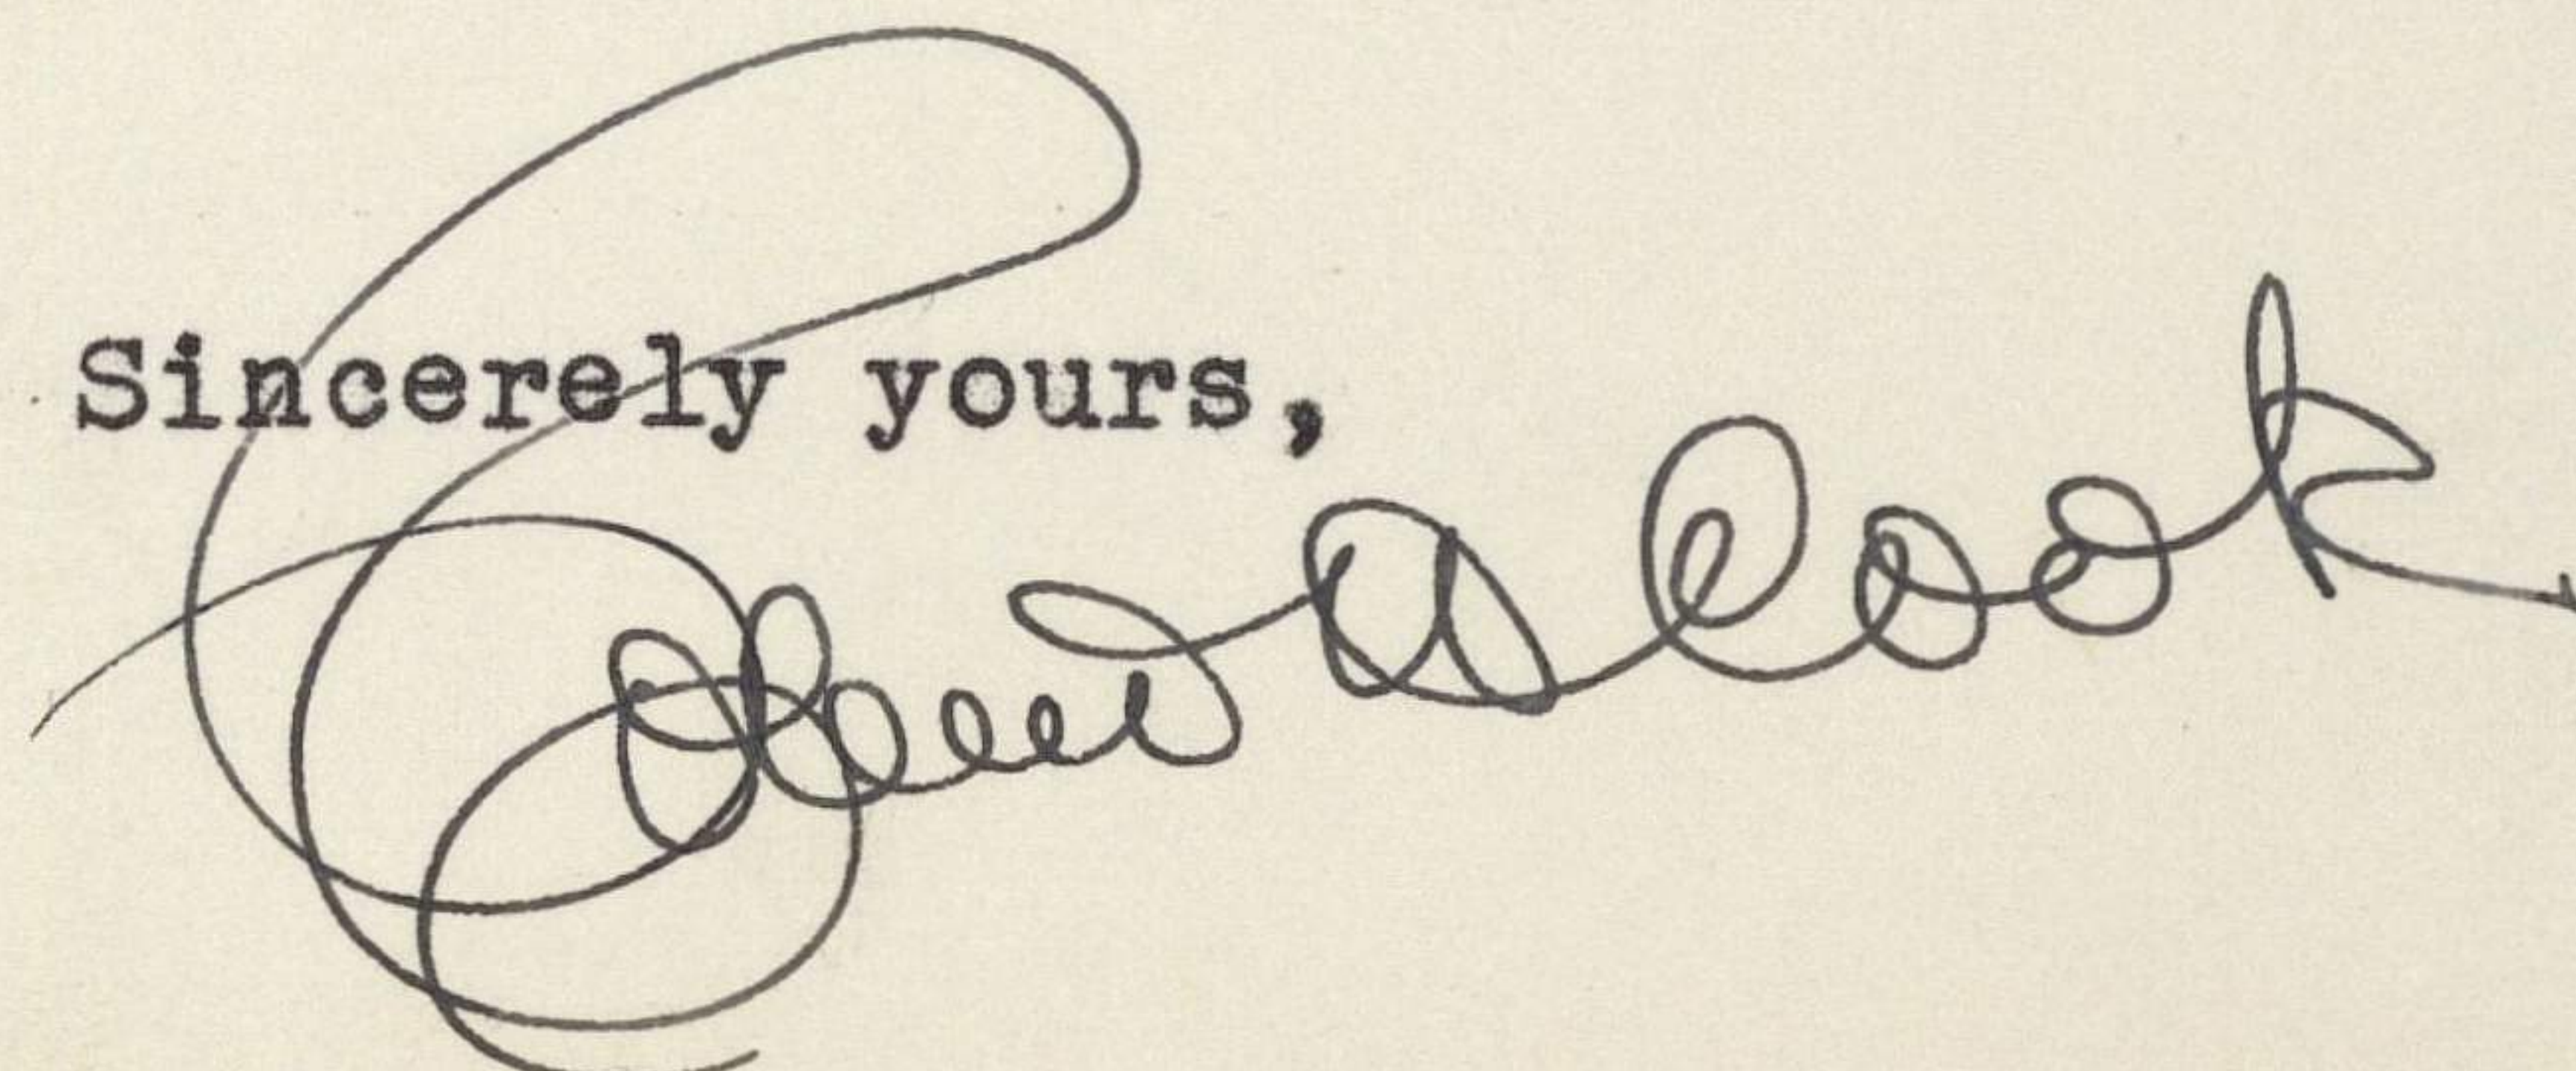

I have received a second letter from him, and I am going to insert some of his statements here. If by any chance, you would like to send him one of your books, I know it would be greatly appreciated. The name and address is Laurence Nelson, c/o Mrs. J. Yates, Hall Meadows, Tean, Staffs, England. He says, in part:

"Your basketball arrived on Christmas day...and your letter to me came on New Year's Day...I shall now look forward to your next letter containing any data on basketball which you have been able to collect for me....There is one book in particular which I have tried unsuccessfully to obtain from your country. It is Dr. "Phog" Allen's work entitled "My Basketball Bible," published by Messrs. McGraw Hill and Co.....Do you think you could possibly get a copy for me..... I've got my heart set on that book....I am fanatically keen on the game."

It occurred to me that perhaps you do have a reviewer's copy or something you could send him. Nelson has been with the London newspapers, and has done some of the pioneer basketball writing in England.

With kindest regards, I am

Sincerely yours,

Mr. Clifford C. Cox,
Chesterfield Centralized School,
Fulton County, Ohio.

Dear Coach Cox:

Pardon my delay in answering your good letter of February 23. I assure you that I am not in the habit of neglecting my correspondence as I have done in your case, but we are just on the fag end of our varsity season, and we have lost some of our instructors in physical education to the Army. So I serve a double duty and my correspondence has suffered.

I am glad to know of your interest in my recent article in Esquire, and am very happy to give you the names of some of the physicians who have sounded the danger signal. These include Charles H. Keene, A. B., M.D., Director of Health and Physical Education, University of Buffalo; A. B. Bower, M.D., and S. J. Morris, M.D., of the Health Unit of the University of West Virginia; C. A. Greenleaf, M.D., Buffalo; Samuel C. Robinson, M. D., of Chicago, on the range of normal blood pressure.

Given below are some of the pamphlets and writing protesting against the strenuousness of the present game of basketball:

Health Service Problems in Basketball -- Charles H. Keene, A.B., M.D., Director of Health and Physical Education, University of Buffalo.

The Effect of Rule Changes Upon the Distance Traversed by Basketball Players -- Paul J. Fay and Lloyd L. Messersmith, The Research Quarterly of the American Association for Health and Physical Education, May 1938, Illinois Medical Journal, Jan. 1938, p. 10.

Effects of Basketball on Junior High School Boys -- A. B. Bowyer and N. S. Anderson, West Virginia Medical Journal, Feb. 1939, p. 89.

Blood Pressure Studies on Basketball Players in Olean N.Y.C.A., Greenleaf, M.D., The Journal of School Health, Feb. 1940.

Here at the University of Kansas we give our boys vitamins - glycolixir, betulin and dextrin and lemon juice, to ward off the evil effects of strenuous practice. I have seen seasons where the boys were shot completely with flu because their vitality was lowered. In the winter time the efficiency of the sun's rays is lessened. The physical strain of running together with the lowered vitality causes many of the boys to get the flu in the winter. That is the reason we give our boys vitamins.

If you want to write me further I assure you that I will be more prompt in my reply.

With best wishes, I am

Very sincerely yours,

Director of Physical Education and Recreation,
Varsity Basketball and Baseball Coach.

Dear Mr. Allen;

I am a coach of a small Ohio high school basketball team. We play the game with intentions of winning so quite naturally we play a hard fast game and make every effort to condition our players so they are ready for the rigors of the game. This year we played a schedule of 15 games out of which we won 12. Because we won a large per cent of our games the fans count this a highly successful season. As long as we are in the basketball business it is our intentions to continue a policy of attempting to win. This is not to say that we are going to cease to emphasize the vastly more important values of competitive sports. We firmly believe the two are compatible. I heard you say in Toledo last fall that "Pop" Warner had the greatest emphasis on the wrong thing when he preached "Win at any price". We are not fanatical about winning. I have kept players out of important games because I felt that at that time the stress of the game might injure the boy's health. But at that time he was not a healthy boy in some respect or another.

I read with considerable interest your article in a recent issue of "Esquire". Several things you mentioned struck me as being focal points for the thought and study of every man interested in promoting the welfare of American youth through competitive athletics and especially those connected with the game of basketball. Since I am one of them I am bold enough to address this letter to you. In the first place you spoke of recent research studies but did not indicate the names of the studies nor the men who carried them out. Neither did you give the details of the techniques nor the specific results.

Several people have read your article and have come to me for my opinion of the present situation. It is especially interesting since last fall I had reported from your very excellent address delivered to the coaches of north western Ohio and they have remembered your name as one who is an authority.

I have at hand a number of facts that seem to indicate that the oft repeated criticism of this fast game is unfounded. However I have always had a suspicion that there may be some truth in the allegation. If you are working for changes that will correct a fault in one of America's most popular games you may expect a large measure of support from the large group of high school coaches when they are informed as to the facts relating to the situation.

In Ohio we have just been asked to grant funds for a study on this situation. I would be glad to pay the cost of securing any information you now have on the matter. I would much prefer that we who are the coaches and promoters of this sport should be the first to offer the changes that are wise and good for the sport. As for me I am not interested in making it a static game in any way but I am determined that I shall do my little bit toward making it the game that will render the greatest possible good toward the physical, mental, and social welfare of the participants.

Yours, for better basketball

Dear Dr. Allen:

Our promotion department is getting up a brochure on our new Sports Poll and for that purpose would like to get together some testimonials on it from leading personages in the sport world. If you could see your way to giving us a statement on what you think of this new sports feature, it would be a great service to us and of course quite a personal favor to me.

Your rotation article went over fine, even though the coaches still hold back. Nick Kearns has a corresponding piece this month, and next month we are going to get in Marshall Diebold's piece. All in all, I feel that our basketball coverage has been as good as in the past, if not better. Next year I will try to get it a little better organized, and would be glad to have another piece from you.

I didn't get over to see your team when you were here, but the fellows from here who did get over said it was a very fine coached team.

When you are in town sometime I wish you would drop up and get acquainted with Al Smart. He is the man back of our efforts to stimulate sports a little more in Esquire.

Yours cordially,

Ralph Cannon

I am happy to know of your promotion and success at Maxwell Field. Please give my regards to Raymond Swanson when you see him.

Physical Training Department
Maxwell Field, Alabama
March 14, 1942

Dear Dr. Allen;

This short letter is being written to offer my belated congratulations on your twenty fifth anniversary of coaching at K.U. and also on your fine season. I received newspaper clippings which told of your sponsoring a scholarship, your twenty fifth anniversary ceremony, and of your fine coaching record. Dr Elbel also mentioned the recognition you received.

Down here at Maxwell Field, things are coming right along. We are undermanned at the present time because a group of our men are in Miami, Florida taking an Officers Training Course. In about a month I am expecting to go down there for training myself. We will be commissioned as Second Lieutenants with prospects of promotion after a few months as I understand it. No one seems to be able to say exactly what the position of the physical training department will be.

Mr. Swanson from K.U. is now stationed at a field in this area. He made a very good impression while he was here taking his preliminary training. A man or two from Kansas State are also directing physical training in this area.

Basketball is one of the most popular sports with the Cadets here. Of course all of our work is conducted outdoors so many activities such as basketball are not played as well as they might be if we had plenty of indoor floor space.

At the present time I am due out on the field for a formation so this will have to end here. Best wishes for your continued success and my regards to Mrs. Allen and your family, I remain yours very sincerely

Mr. Roy Calhoun,
5903 Revere Place,
Dallas, Texas.

Dear Roy:

I find that I have failed to answer your good letter of February 19. I was just browsing over it today, and thought I would answer it immediately and let you know how very much I appreciated your writing me.

Milton is president of his law class and does not get his degree until this summer. If he leaves school of course they do not give him his diploma, and he desires to take the bar examination in early June. I do not know whether this has anything to do with the fact that he has not heard definitely from the FBI or not. The investigators got in touch with the Dean of the Law School, and it might be that they have asked to let him stay, or it might be that his application was not acted upon favorably. At any rate we will know a little later. It is my understanding that he had some very strong endorsements, but one can never tell what will show up on examination. I am hoping that he gets it because I believe that he can make a valuable contribution to the service.

I want to thank you for your offer of kindness to assist. Milton declares that he wrote you but I cannot understand why you did not get his letter. I know that you could have helped him a lot. Anyhow, whether it was a bad break or whether he missent your letter causes me to definitely feel that he lost a staunch supporter's recommendation, and one who could have done him a lot of good. For all of these things which you kindly offered to do, I thank you very much.

Now for basketball. We finally limped through and tied for the Big Six championship with Oklahoma. Then in our play-off we beat Oklahoma Aggies in Kansas City by four points. Then in a nerve-tingling game we lost to Colorado by two points, and at that we had three chances in the last thirty seconds to win the ball game but we either fumbled under the basket or passed when we should have shot within six feet of the goal. Then we beat Rice for third place in the N.C.A.A. play-off. It was quite a ball game.

Ralph Miller has been in the hospital with lobar pneumonia and it is my definite conclusion that the boy was a sick boy in the Colorado game. Against Rice, in the afternoon before the game, I told him I was not going to play him because he did not look well. I had sent him to the physician's office for a check up and he reported a back strain. But it proved to be intercostal neuralgia which was a forerunner of this pneumonia that he developed right after the series. When I told Ralph that I was not going to play him he came to me just before dinner time and said, "Well, Doctor, let me start because this is the last game I am going to play, and I would like to start." I said, "All right, Ralph, but I am doing it against my judgment for your own good."

I started him and he looked ill. I took him out, and I put him back, and I took him out again, and finally put him back so he could finish the game. He was just a shell of his former self, but he played great ball. Anyhow, I was pleased beyond measure that the boy got to play. I thought we did well indeed considering so many losses of our regulars the year before, and a difficult playing season, together with a few difficult boys who were not in the line up but who caused us plenty of grief. Anyhow, we are glad the season is over, and I believe everybody is happy.

Sincerely yours,

Director of Physical Education and Recreation,
Varsity Basketball and Baseball Coach.

February 19, 1942.

Dr. Forest C. Allen,
Lawrence, Kansas.

Dear Doc:

Your letter reached me, but I never received one from Milton. Lee told me that Milton was considering applying to the FBI and that he would write to me, but I didn't know that he actually had done so. I would have written a letter to Mr. Hoover in his behalf, but I didn't have details as to his date of birth. I'm sorry his letter went astray.

Since he has gone to the Kansas City office and has taken the examinations, there has already been a recommendation made concerning him, and I'm sure it was favorable. If he mentioned knowing me, they will have one report on him, and you may rest assured that it will be favorable.

I note that Ole Kay-Yoo-Hoo is still in basketball form, and I don't doubt in the least that they will be on top at the finish. I have come to believe that if Phog Allen of Kansas or Glenn Rose of Arkansas are given men of fair size and average intelligence, they will produce winners. Rose lost three regulars from 1941, and his 6 ft 6 in forward had to have his appendix out in November. Then his center was drafted, and another man was lost for the season with a broken ankle. Did he quit? No, he's still ahead, and unless bad luck sets in, he'll be there at the close. I saw Price beat Stone the other night, and with all respect to Buster Braumon, their young coach (who hails from Pine Bluff, Arkansas), I wondered what they could have done with you or Rose guiding them. They have two b-b men and a guard 5-9 and 177 who knows his business. There was too much long passing and loose passing which lost the ball.

I saw a comical statement in the Arkansas Gazette the other day. It was suggested that for the duration of the war the small colleges there discontinue the subsidizing of football players! My school, Hendrix College, an A-1 college with two million dollars in endowment, ceased football last year rather than play against blacksmiths and coal miners from Pennsylvania on the Teachers' Colleges and Junior Colleges.

I like football as much as any man, but I wouldn't give a dime to see another professional game, and there are certain university teams that I wouldn't care to see play again (let's not mention them) because of their winking at scholastic standing, and because of the unprincipled style of play taught by their coaches.

Your old theory that a good basketball man can be a good football player is borne out at Arkansas. The men of Glenn Rose are the football ends, year after year.

Let me know the result of Wiltson's application.

Yours,

Roy Calhoun
