

January 13, 1942.

Mr. F. H. Cox,
Manager, Western Union,
Lawrence, Kansas.

Dear Reverend Cox:

I notice that Western Union goes "Everywhere", but a telegram that I sent to Mrs. Allen at Anchorage, Kentucky, didn't get "anywhere".

I sent this wire to her at Anchorage and it was never delivered. This caused me great pain and travail, and I don't see why I should pay for a message that wasn't delivered.

If you would like to debate me on that point let me hear from you. I am returning the bill for your profit and loss file.

Sincerely yours,

Director of Physical Education and Recreation,
Varsity Basketball and Baseball Coach.
