Dear Florence and Harry:

I want you to know how genuinely I enjoyed that swell visit we had Monday noon. You people are very generous hosts, and I delighted in every moment of our all too short visit.

You asked about the expenses at the University. The sorority dues are about $50.00 a month, and the tuition is as follows: Matriculation, $10.00; incidental, $25.00 a semester; health, $5.00 a semester; activity, $8.75 (the present year). The matriculation and incidental fees given above are for residents of the state.

Well, this is Monday morning and after five attempts to start and endeavor to finish your letter I will attack it the first thing this morning so there will be no more delays or breaks in the daison. I asked Eleanor regarding the dues at her sorority house, that is for board and dues, and this gives you the bare expenses. By the way, the activity fee will be increased to $12.00 next semester, so that will be an additional $3.25.

I think it would not be fair unless you should add about $2.50 per month for sorority assessments. They do not come, of course, as regular tax, but before the year is up we find that there are always some extras, so I believe by including $2.50 a month you would cover all of the sorority party assessments, and so forth.

Bess and I are leaving Wednesday morning for Chicago where I will attend the National Health, Physical Education and Recreation Association for four days, including the 27th. Bess is then leaving for Louisville to visit Mary and her
