Dear Sir:

I recently made a second trip to Lawrence but failed again to find you at home. I talked with Mr. Lindsey who gave very courteous treatment and promised to assist me in getting employment. However since I prefer to take basketball, at least at first, I thought I would write you again and ask your assistance in getting me part employment.

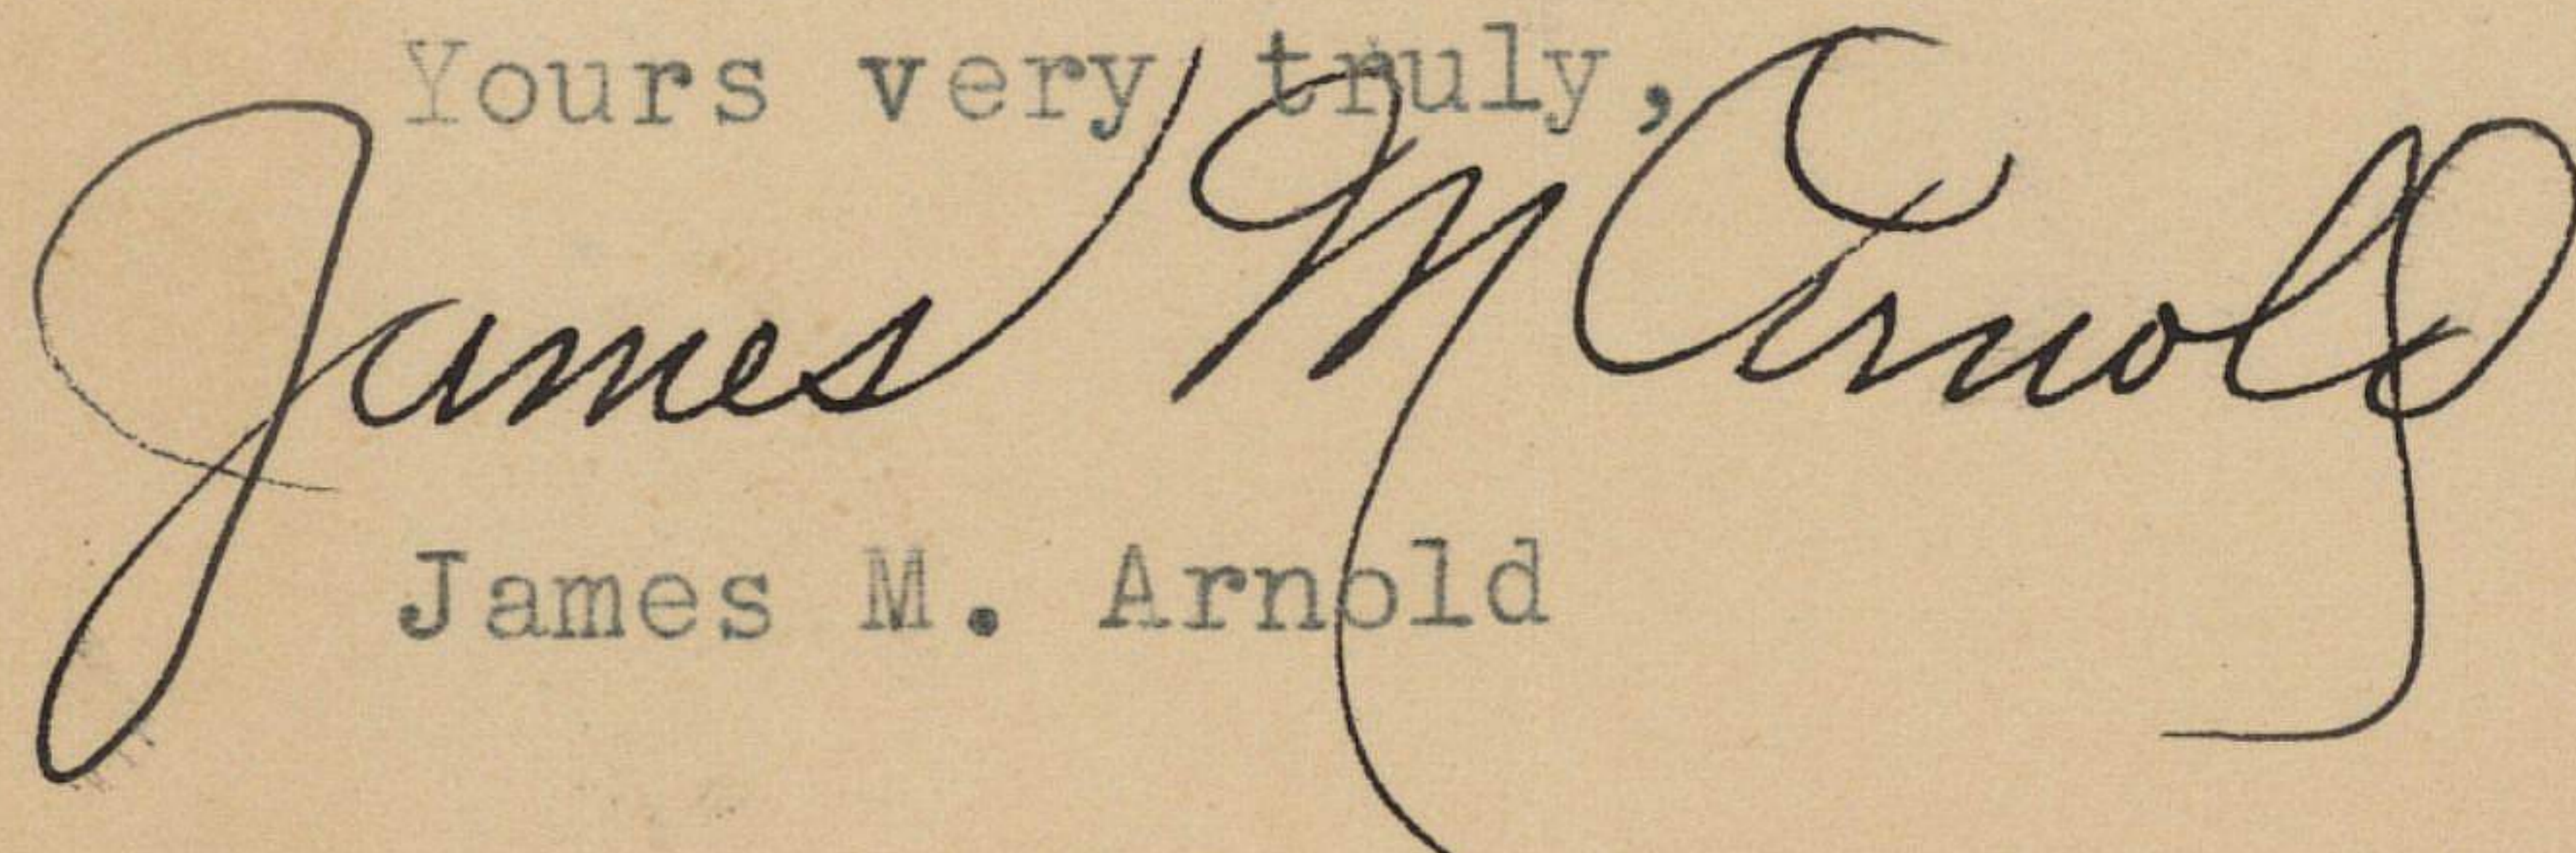

I have just received notice of a CSEP part-time job for $12 a month but that will hardly be sufficient to get me through. I expect to be very economical during my school year ^{but} the above amount, I fear, will not be enough.

Mr. Lindsey advised me that you and he worked together in securing jobs for students, but I thought that since I was expecting ~~to~~ take just basketball and track for the present it would be more proper for me to solicit your assistance.

I have a list of rooming places in Lawrence but since I am not acquainted with any of them I would appreciate if you could recommend a good room at a reasonable price. I would rather room with some young man of good moral character whose interests are similar to mine.

Thanking you very kindly for the favors you have previously given me, I remain

Yours very truly,

James M. Arnold
