For Immediate Release

LAWRENCE, Kan., March .---Glenn Cunningham, the greatest miler of all time, will be the feature attraction of the sixteenth annual Kansas Relays, April 23.

The Jayhawk flier recently astounded the sports world by running a mile in the previously unheard of time of 4:04.4 and his return to his alma mater should attract even more attention than usual. Kansas Cunningham has already notified "Bill" Halpiss, track coach, that he will be here for the Relays and all that remains is for selection of Cunningham's opponents.

Glenn is enjoying the greatest indoor season of his career and should fare even better outdoors. Since falling in his first race of the season, Cunningham has not been defeated at any distance,

In the space of six days he set two world records. First Glenn cracked the 1500 meter record of 3:49.9 with a time of 3:48.4 at the National A.A.U. meet in Madison Square Garden and then five days later he chopped four seconds off the world indoor record in the mile at Dartmouth with his time of 4:04.4. The latter time also surpassed the outdoor mile record of 4:06.4 set by Woodersen of England last summer.

Cunningham first broke into the national spotlight in 1930 when he won the mile in 4:24.7 at the national high school meet. He had earlier in the season set a Kansas Relays high school record that still stands. The following year he was a freshman at Kansas University and so was not in intercollegiateccompetition. 1932 saw Glenn, a sophomore, winning a place on the America Olympic team and then being the first American to finish in the Olympic 1500 meter run.

The following winter he began his appearance in the feature races in the east, both indoor and outdoor. He won the Columbian mile in New York four years out of five, and in 1934 in this race he set the world mark at 4:08.4, which he himself broke this season. He won the Baxter mile in New York four tiles in the past six years and the Wanameker Mile five times out of six.

At the Princeton Invitation meet in 1934 he set the outdoor record of 4:06.7 which stood until last summer, and is yet the American outdoor record.

Cunningham ran again in the 1936 Olympics, pressing Lovelock to a new Olympic record, and himself being clocked in time better than a the previous record.

Congratulations on your wonderful cohievement?

The amnouncement came over the radio at a most opportune time. We were playing our Big Six championship game with Missouri, and the croud was keyed to a very high pitch. I wish you could have heard the great evation Mansans gave to Glown Curningham when they heard the amnouncement! We are indeed proud of you, my boy.

One of my good friends, Ed Shoemaker, of Dartmouth College, I know must have gotten a great thrill out of your race. I expect to hear a lot from him about the process of Glenn Cumingham. Ed's father was formerly president of EGA, and retired at the age of 45 because he made so much money that he wanted to give some one else a chance. Just think of it!

Ed was a lieutenant in the Black Horse Cavalry troop at Culver last year, and next year is going to Oxford. Our son, Bobby, has been for three summers in the Black Horse Troop, and since our family has spent the summers at Lake Maxinkusine we became greatly attached to Bd. Jane and he became very great friends. Jane is now at Stanford.

I guess the easterners have got to be converted, and by now you have converted them — and how!

Our best regards and good wishes and congratulations to you and Mrs. Cumningham, and your little daughter, Sara.

Dear Hr. Orra

I am sending you a report of Maurice Cannady. When I talked with you on the phone I told you of his efficiency and popularity. He is an A #I man, has an unlimited amount of energy and has a personality that is pleasing beyond mild comparison.

He is handsome, courteous, aggressive and durable.
He is one of our most efficient seniors, and I predict for him a splendid future. He can coach all the major sports will. And he has a rare faculty of getting along excellently with the boys.

He does not use narcotics nor alcohol, and he is a splendid emmple for young non-
