

therefore stood the accident as well as he did because his body was in excellent physical condition. If it had not been for his kicking the "johnny ball" when he fell back into his safety belt he would have remained there in contact with that hot wire until someone could go up the pole after him.

-- Kenneth Caldwell.