were placed in a corner of the locker room and of all the crazy (?) things, you started reciting poetry to us and there we sat absorbing your thoughts and stewing in our juice. It was time for the kick-off!!! Finally we were released, fighting, bawling mad and eager. Eleven players made a dive for the door - what a jam. I'll never forget the white heat of that pent up energy and determination. "Potsy" Clark came out on the field, apparently to say something, but took one look at his eleven and walked off without a word. A team was never keyed up to a tighter pitch. The records may not bear me out but as I recall the Cornhuskers had the ball inside our 10 yard line four times and we had the ball inside their 10 yard line an equal number of times. It was the toughest, hardest game in my three years of football. One time NU had the ball on our one yard line and four downs to go. Four times they gave the ball to the big NU full-back, Noble. He was big and fast and started away back and came with a terrible crash, but in the end, we took the ball and they had lost six inches in four attempts. Well, anyway, that's the way I remember it.

Once again, thanks for the letter.

Cordially yours,

Alan Davidson,
Personnel Manager
