

September 19, 1941.

Mr. Dell Davidson, Stadium.

Dear Mr. Davidson:

Your call this morning for a supply of lime to mark the tennis courts entails an Emergency order on our part through the University Business Office. I trust that in the future you will be able to anticipate what lime you will need for marking our courts so that we may place the order ahead of the time you need it.

It is very embarrassing for us to ask for these Emergency orders, and of course it makes Mr. Klooz very unhappy. I trust that we may make arrangements to have enough lime on hand at all times.

Sincerely yours,

Director of Physical Education and Recreation,
Varsity Basketball and Baseball Coach.

FCA:AH

cc - Mr. Klooz.