

stances, average intelligence, perhaps, the father a little above. Did not graduate from high school, however. The father is a salesman for Swift, and a high ranking one. He is noted for his fine integrity. Both parents stand very high in this community for social and economical progress.

The boy has been some what spoiled by the mother.

He entered Warrensburg State Teachers College last fall. He made the first Team of Basket-Ball. However, was unable to play because of grades.

He worked extra for room and board. He was given a scholarship in Basket Ball from the Reiss Summit High School. He lived in house while in college with a bunch of boys.

Unable to make Basket-Ball team he would not stay in college, came home.

His parents and friends got him a job with the "K. C. Wire Rope Co." He made their basket ball team. I believe called "The K.C. Union Wire" which took the championship of the