

many games that a contemporary who has not these acquisitions will fail.

Then there is the matter of conditioning and training. Conditioning is getting the individual athlete in shape. Training is the spirit that causes a boy to say "no" a thousand times to temptations that destroy his efficiency so that he may say "yes" once to victory and to championships.

I trust that you will see these possibilities in the course and that you will elaborate upon them a little more than you have in the past. I would be very happy to have you express yourself further as you have in your previous lessons.

Very sincerely yours,

Director of Physical Education and Recreation, Varsity Basketball Coach.
