

RADIO ADDRESS

Our weather today emphasizes the necessity of taking care of some of our unfortunates. If we are in a position to give money and aid it is because we are more fortunate than some of our fellowmen. Food, raiment and shelter are the primal necessities for man; without any one of these three we suffer.

Everyone of us have read the admonition of the lowly Nazarene, that it is more blessed to give than to receive. In the words of one of our classification clubs, "He profits most who serves best." These words were used for the purpose of stirring us into a consciousness to give and to do things for those people less fortunate than we.

Every municipality in our democratic land has been faced with the thing that we are now faced with, and they have gone into it energetically, heroically and victoriously. I am very sure that Lawrence, steeped in tradition, culture, wealth and refinement will meet the common urge of all mankind. Some of the Lawrence children need food, raiment and better shelter. When they are thus taken care of they will be in a position to receive the teaching that will make them first-class citizens.

In the spirit of democracy we ask that you consider this Community Chest obligation yours and mine. May we play teamwork to a point that we will win over this winter's invasion of cold, hunger and disease.
