

my doubts that it will do any good. but here's hoping.

School is going along fine. Most of the girls are quite enthusiastic about physical education. Of course there's always a few "cream-puffs" who just can't get into gear by the time the hour is over.

Our 6th graders go out to camp a week from Sunday. They're so excited - I don't blame them. I was out to camp again last week-end. The children from Beaton were really enjoying it. They had an average gain in weight of nearly 2 pounds in the two weeks. Guess I better not go out to stay.

I'm taking graduate work in phys. ed at the U. of Michigan this semester. Couldn't get the Chemistry at Western this semester but the P.E. courses will help me along and I'll not worry about the Chemistry now. I'm sure it will all work out later.

Best wishes to the phys. ed dept. staff and to the football team Sat. - I'll be listening in for the scores.

Sincerely
