seems too great a distance for me to be of any material aid. I confess that I am very frightened.

Can you turn this letter over to some one who has Phil's interest at heart and upon whom I can depend to talk to him as a father would?

It is asking a great deal of anyone, I know, and a particularly unpleasant task but Phil's future means more to me, right now, than it does to him. I am sure that there is some one out

Dear Mr. Galloway:

I have just had a letter from Mr James E. Hitt telling me that Philip's work is not satisfactory and asking me to do what I can — which, I fear, is very little.

Needless to say, I am very sorry that Mr. Hitt found it necessary to write such discouraging news. I want to do all that I
