Well, I am not expressing myself very well, but you got my paper, which is a new one - Swanson, of course, didn't mention it, but I sincerely hope that some day our educators will wake up to the fact that men like Swanson could be of greater value to the school systems than any financial outlay and year by year they die their nuts business because they can make a living there.

What I started to write about is that Swanson would like the
