Mr Cloud is just like he was in H. S. Solly can check him but dont get over confident. He still can shoot only with his right hand but he steps away from the basket so far and leaps so high it is unguardable from the rear. (ask Miller about Newton in 1937) He is better than ever with it now + avg. 16 points in the Rocky league. If you play in front of him and keep him from getting the ball or play well to his right hand you may stop him. He is fairly clever & maneuvers for his own shots well. Is not a good team man.

Froship main play can be diagrammed well. The initial set up is as follows
