

I would say the above is my conception for a recreation program for the summer term of the University. I would have tournaments in all of the sports possible. I would do everything in my power to encourage the faculty & students to compete against each other. I would try to keep all of the sports ~~not~~ going thru the entire session. At the first of the term I think it would be nice to enforce attendance in some of the Tournaments. Many students would never come near these things unless enforced to do so. Once they get there I think they would come back often. The program should be well planned. I think it is so hard to get a good player against a poor player the first time. The poor player will never come back again. The more people that get in the program the more fun it will be.
